

Elad Golan, Energy advisor, Western Negev Cluster, Energy advisor

Elad Golan (eladg.negevconsulting@gmail.com, LinkedIn) is the owner of a boutique consulting firm in the field of Energy regulation and policy, specializing in the East Med region, which advising clients in the private and public sector, in Israel and abroad.

Elad provides utility services to the Western Negev cluster, as part of the regional effort for the rehabilitation and development of the Western Negev region in the energy field.

Elad served for about 10 years in the Ministry of Energy as the Head of Regulation Department and acting manager of the O&G Unit. During these years, Elad was in charge for developing the Israeli upstream O&G and CCUS regulation, and was responsible for creating the regulation, managing and implementing it.

At the same time, Elad taught a first-of-its-kind course in Israel in Energy policy and regulation at the Colman College of Management, and delivered lectures on this topic in various forums.

Elad earned a LL.B. (2011), LL.M. (2014) and MBA (2018) from the Hebrew University.