Call for papers, International Event on renewable energy,

September 13, 2022, Ramada hotel, Jerusalem

The "Greentech" 2022 conference organizers see an immense importance in engaging and highlighting the achievements of Israeli academy and industry R&D teams at the upcoming conference. Researchers and industry figures are invited to submit an abstract, which will be reviewed for oral presentation by the conference steering committee. Abstracts must be submitted via the "Greentech" website only, written in clear Hebrew/English. Accepted abstracts will be published in the conference program, which will be distributed to conference participants.

Abstract submission deadline - July 15, 2022.

Our call is directed towards researchers and professionals in the renewable energy and sustainability fields.

- Green energy production - solar, wind, hydraulic, waves, biomass hydrogen and others.
- Developing energy conservation and management technologies.
- Environmental conservation and pollutant treatment technologies.
- Demonstration sites and experimental laboratories in the fields of energy production and environmental conservation.
- Design, management and control technologies for distributed energy sites.
- Energy storage and transmission.

Steering committee-

Dr. Moshe Zilberman- Conference Chairman

Mr. Amos Lasker

Dr. Pinchas Doron

Dr. Vitali Haslavski

Dr. Yaal Lester

Abstract submission guidelines-

- Abstracts must be one thousand words with a maximum of 5 pages.

- The time slot for each lecture is 20 minutes, including several minutes dedicated to Q&A.

- Abstracts must be submitted before the submission deadline.

- After the final abstract review by the committee, a notice will be sent regarding the integration of the abstract into the conference program.

- Submission of an abstract acknowledges your acceptance for the abstract to be published in all official conference publications.

- A condition of submission is that you agree to such publication and surrender any copyright over the abstract as submitted to "Greentech" 2022.

- Abstracts must be submitted through the official submission system on the conference website and must be written in Hebrew/English.

Important notes-

1. Please save the document as*.doc and not as *.docx.
2. Official confirmation of abstract submission will be e-mailed upon completion of the on-line submission process. If confirmation has not been received, then the abstract submission process is not yet complete, and your abstract will be sent for review.
3. The abstract title should be of the topic discussed in the abstract and not the company name.
